

APPENDIX 1

TO: All secondary schools in the local authority

September 18th 2016

Dear Colleague

I am writing to give you an update on the current situation regarding the revised GCSE specification. This is the most up to date information that I have received from Lynda Maddock, GCSE Examinations Officer and I am sure it will prove uand your department preparing your schemes of work and for teaching the revised specifications. This is a summary of where the revision process is at present. See italicised comment from WJEC below.

WJEC say that they are very close to accreditation now. The Draft specification is on the WJEC website (especially for those who have already started with year 9). SAMS are just being translated now and will then be placed on the website also.

There is a wealth of resources available on the Eduqas website and it is probably worth schools buying a copy of the Hodder book for Eduqas (as lots of content is similar) when it is released on Oct 28th. There will be a text book for Wales but because of deferral, Hodder are not rushing with it.

SACRE has been regularly updated on progress with regard to the revised Specifications and has agreed that this information should be shared with you so that you can be updated on the matter as a matter of urgency.

Yours sincerely

Subject: FW: WJEC Eduqas GCSE RS Sample

Hello All,

In order to alleviate Teachers' concerns somewhat, please find below a link to some sample chapters from the text book that Hodder has written for our Eduqas specification. The full book will be available in about a month.

Obviously, it won't contain any Welsh dimension and it does not suit our draft Wales spec perfectly, but it will still be useful because there is a good deal of overlap, particularly with the Philosophical /Ethical themes section.

So, for teachers in Wales, who have started Life and Death in year 9, this sample will be very useful. Similarly, if teachers have started with Christianity or Islam from the draft spec, then there will be useful material here.

Please feel free to forward this widely.

Quals Wales have now received my amended SAMS document...and I wait in hope!

All the best.

Lynda
