Main objectives of the organisation:

Llamau's mission is to end youth homelessness and homelessness amongst women in Wales. We work with some of the most vulnerable and disenfranchised groups in our community, who face complex barriers to independence; including those with experiences of care, domestic abuse and childhood trauma - shown to significantly increase the risk of health-harming behaviours in adulthood.

Our work aims to prevent homelessness from happening in the first place, provides safe accommodation for those experiencing homelessness and, crucially, supports people to develop the skills and confidence to leave homelessness behind for good.

Examples of our services include:

- Prevention: for example; information and advice services, Youth Homelessness Helpline, Family Mediation and other early intervention support;
- Housing-related support: for example; domestic abuse refuges, supported accommodation for young people, supported lodgings, LGBTQ+, Gender and Care Leaver specific supported accommodation
- 'Move on' services: for example; Learning, Training and Employment programmes and outreach services for those living within the community

How often does the organisation meet and where?

In Caerphilly specifically, Llamau supports almost 50 young people with experiences of homelessness at any one time, through our five 24 hour supported accommodation projects and our Housing First, Support Lodgings and Floating Support schemes.

Purpose for which grant is sought?

Research shows that the physical health and wellbeing of those who have experienced homelessness are poorer than that of the general population. They often face significant health inequalities and barriers to accessing health services and support. Furthermore, Llamau/Cardiff University's research found that young homeless people are more likely to experience poor mental health than their peers. Nine out of ten young homeless people met the criteria for at least one psychiatric disorder, compared to one in three 16-24 year olds in the general population. Almost three quarters (73%) met criteria for two or more psychiatric disorders, which compares to only 12.4% of the general population. Young people supported by Llamau are also more likely to have experienced Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) including maltreatment or trauma; emotional abuse; parental drug/alcohol abuse; and/or parental incarceration. To compound these challenges, young people have been placed firmly in the firing line of the Covid-19 crisis. A survey by our in-house Psychologists into the specific impact of Covid-19 on the well-being of the people Llamau support highlighted that mental health had worsened by nearly a third (32%) across the organisation.

With your support, Llamau will address the specific barriers and stigmas to taking part in sports that homeless young people have told us they face – cost, fear of looking stupid, worries about their appearance and being around unfamiliar people. We will improve young peoples' access to activity through the purchase of sports/fitness equipment.

Young people living in our 24 hour supported accommodation projects in Caerphilly have told us that during periods of lockdown they became frustrated that the pandemic was keeping them indoors and inactive. They would like to purchase sports equipment that they can use at home and in the local community with their peers and Support Workers. These will include games sets for playing team games together, yoga mats and weights and the young people would love a multigame table.

The aim of the project is to improve the health and wellbeing of young people with experiences of homelessness in Caerphilly. The capital items we purchase will enable young people to experience:

- Increased motivation to engage in physical activity and improved access to sports equipment and sessions, at home and in the community
- Increased social inclusion and positive relationships with peers, Llamau colleagues/volunteers and the wider community
- Improved mental health and wellbeing as a result of using exercise as a positive coping mechanism which increases self-esteem, confidence, motivation
- Increased understanding of how to protect their own wellbeing, preventing escalation of health issues and reducing strain on statutory services
- Improved engagement with Llamau's support services, thus addressing key support needs and reducing risk of future homelessness

Engaging young people with positive activities at home and in the community will bring social impacts including improved social cohesion and reduced levels of involvement with negative or anti-social behaviours.

How much is being sought from or provided by other sources? (please provide details)

The entirety of the funding for this project is being sought from this fund. However, if we are unsuccessful in our application we will work with young people to identify alternative sources of funding from trusts and foundations and corporate or community partners.
