Hi all

I would like to request official figures of the noise reduction properties from the manufacturers of this product.

I have spoken to them, along with a number of distributors of this product.

It is designed for installation in walls, floors and ceilings, of properties.

As this is only being installed into walls, the companies I have spoken too, all agree, that as there is no ceiling involved, they could not guarantee any reduction in sound levels, due to the suggested installation.

I look forward to hearing any replies on this, and will make further enquiries myself into the use of such product.

Kind regards

Martin Butler
